

Stage Island, is the fourth of a mile in length, with a sand bar extending from it WSW to the Maine shore. On this island, near its center, there is a stone column or landmark, sixty feet in height, painted white, [which] is seen from every part of the bay between Richmonds & Wood Islands.